MURDER WILL OUT.

Traced and Captured After a Search of Seven Years and Brought to Justice.

One of the most sensational murder trials of modern times has been commenced at the Cork (Ireland) assizes, where William Sheehan and David Browne, his brother-in-law, are being tried for the murder of Sheehan's own mother, brother and sister at Castletown Roche, not far distant. Seven years ago the bodies were found at the bottom of a well. A few months since Sheehan was followed to New Zealand, and brought back in irons. Within the last few days a startling sensational confession has been made by an old man named Duane, after always having denied any knowledge of the crime. At the time of the atrocious murders he was employed as a servant on a farm belonging to the murderer's mother. Greed for the sole possession of the farm seems to have been the cause of the murders by her son. Duane states that the prisoner committed the murders with an implement called a "griffaun," which is used in breaking lumpy mold after plowing, and closely resembles a cooper's adze. The evening of the murder Tom Sheehan was induced by his brother to enter the stable. He was followed by the prisoners, when William Sheehan struck him terrific blows on the head, which killed him instantly. The murderers then locked the stable door and entered the house to complete the work of slaughter. The poor mother and hapless sister, Hannah, were seated in the small parlor off the kitchen. William struck the mother with the griffaun; then throwing it away he caught her by the throat and choked her. Brown took up the griffaun and struck his old playmate, Hannah, on the head, knocking her down, and also completed the terrible deed by seizing her by the throat. Both victims screamed, but no one come to their aid. They were dead in less than a minute. Duane was paralyzed with fear and did not care then to inform on the murderers, who asked him to help them in removing the bodies to the stable. About 8 o'clock of the same evening Duane, at Sheehan's request, harnessed a horse to a cart, in which the three bodies were placed by the murderers, and he himself then drove to a distant field, where the bodies were thrown into an old abandoned well. During the removal of the bodies the men were secretly watched by Duane's son, who also denied any knowledge of the murders until recently, when he, too, made a confession while undergoing penal servitude in Cork prison. Both father and son say they have kept quiet lest they should be charged with complicity. The most revolting portion of this terrible crime is that while the men were removing the bodies the two sisters of the prisoner (Browne), one of whom Sheehan soon afterward married, were in the adjoining dwelling house dancing to the music of a concertina. When the bodies were disposed of and the horse returned to the stable, the inside of the cart was washed, and then the murderers went into the house and joined the festivities.

Big Track Laying.

At Kamloops last Monday, about 80 men were on hand, all told, at starting, some 20 more afterwards joining the party. The work laid out was to complete four miles during the day. The locomotive in attendance furnishing the rails, which were passed to the track car, moved by a span of horses to the front, and handled by the men. The handlers and spikers worked with a will and the track laying went lively along until six o'clock, when four miles and 800 feet of track had been laid. Four miles per day was a common thing east of the mountains, but there the country was prairie, but here the cuts and fillings are numerous and more difficult to get along with, especially at bends such as are at times met in this railway work. The 'boss' day of track laying along the Union Pacific railway was 7½ miles in one day. But the number of men more than doubled those working at track laying at Kamloops. On the following day (Tuesday) three miles and 1,700 feet of track was laid. At that rate a few weeks will witness the train at Salmon River tunnels, where, it is said, the grade is not likely to cause delay.

The Abduction.

The Chinese woman, On Goo, abducted on Thursday night last has not been restored to her friends. There are all sorts of rumors as to her present whereabouts, some locating her on the island, and others in Saanich and across the straits. Opinions agree as to the motive of the abductors, which was to force a ransom from her friends. The reward offered by Mr. Walls may result in her return to her disconsolate tillicums, and will perhaps unearth a villainous plot that will startle the public. If On Goo were only a white lady, moving in the charmed radius of a fashionable circle, what a storm of righteous wrath would have been evoked ere this. But On Goo is only a China woman!

A Chilliwhack Suit.

A big suit is pending before the Supreme Court between parties from Chilliwhack. Some time ago, the Vedder ranch of 1250 acres, situated near Sumas, was sold to Mr. Lumsden for $15,000, one third of which was paid down. A dispute has since arisen as to the quantity and quality of the stock and hay transferred at the time of the sale, and the purchasers refuse payment of the balance.

Severely Injured.

One of the artificers of the torpedo boat Swift fell down the stairs at the Theatre Comique on Friday night, striking his head heavily. He was removed to the police quarters and afterwards to the Naval Hospital, where he now lies in a most critical state. At latest accounts he was said to be out of his mind, and fears were entertained that the injuries might prove fatal.

The Enterprise.

The C, P. N. Co., owners of the Enterprise, now beached at Cadboro Bay, have decided to remove the machinery and everything that is of any value from the wreck and abandon the hulk to its fate. The Enterprise was built on the Sacramento and brought to Victoria in February, 1862, by Capt. Murray, who sold her to the Hudson Bay Co. for $65,000.

Mining on Tranquille Creek.

The Sentinel says that a short time since Messrs. Raven & Co. commenced mining along Tranquille Creek, upon Mr. Wm. Fortune's property, and after working along North for about six miles discovered "good paying ground," and have recorded with Officer Tunstall 600 feet. They last week took out two little nuggets, value about $5.

THE WIDE WORLD.

THIS DAY'S DESPATCHES.

THE DEAD HERO.

A Sad Day Yesterday—Farewell to the Dead.

Special to THE TIMES.

MT. MCGREGOR, Aug. 3.—Yesterday was a memorable day at the Grant cottage. The family were paying farewell to the dead. In the afternoon the widow asked that Dr. Newman should be sent for. When he came Mrs. Grant reminded the pastor that her dead would be hers only a little while longer and asked him to be with the family while they gathered in the cottage to say farewells. The visit was at about 2 o'clock. Mrs Grant and her daughter and each of her three sons and their wives were in the room with the dead. Dr. Newman and wife were also present. They surrounded the catafalque and Mrs. Grant, from a table, brought her dead husband's bible which she opened and passed to Dr. Newton. It was found the book had opened at the 14th chapter of Job. The chapter was read and then the clergyman recited the 15th and 19th verses; then a prayer of gratitude was offered up. The gratitude referred to the beautiful character of the silent one. After this the entire family were left alone with their pastor, and entered with him into a religious conversation; then recollections were dwelt upon and reminiscences recalled by the General's last sickness. Dr. Newman, after carefully scanning the General's face expressed satisfaction at its appearance, and gave it as his opinion that the remains are in a condition of perfect preservation.

The United States Consular Service.

Special to THE TIMES.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—A prominent state department official says the reorganization of consular service will be completed about January next. There is said to be an increased inclination among the business men to enter the South American markets. The Consul of the new territory is expected to make such reports of the resources as will be valuable to the business men in deciding upon trading with those states. Some severe comments are being made upon the consuls in South and Central America. About 200 consular ports yet remain to be filled. The majority being small agencies, paying salaries or fees, amounting to $1000. Each clerk of House of Representatives wishes all Congressmen who desire to attend General Grant's funeral to telegraph him at Washington, so that General Hancock may be advised and provision made for them in line of procession.

The King of Terrors Holding High Carnival.

Special to THE TIMES.

MADRID, Aug. 3.—In the whole of Spain on Saturday there were reported 2280 new cases of cholera and 1400 deaths. The military governor of Granada, has succumbed to the pestilence. Cholera is raging in the convict settlement at Carthage.

The Correspondencia, of Espana, reports that five persons suffocated while a house was being fumigated at Jaen. The cholera continues to spread to new provinces.

The number of new cases of cholera, throughout Spain yesterday, were 3317, and deaths 1364. In this city 37 new cases and 23 deaths were reported.

Storms of great violence swept over the central and northern parts of Spain yesterday, destroying much property, and in many places utterly the telegraph lines. Many persons are reported to have been killed.

An English Society Sensation.

Special to THE TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—The latest society sensation in London is caused by the announcement that Lord Chief Justice Coleridge is about to marry an American lady, whom he first met on the steamer on which he returned from America three years ago, and who threatened to bring action for breach of promise if he did not marry her. Society is much agitated over the approaching event. His Lordship's sons and daughter are said to be very angry over the affair.

A Split in the Irish Party.

Special to THE TIMES.

TRALEE, Aug. 3.—At a large meeting of the suspended branch of the League, held here to-day, a resolution of defiance of the central committee was adopted, attributing the latter's action to the supposition that the trade branch would, at the general election, successfully oppose Parnell's candidates, and vote for candidates of the Davitt party.

Reported Conflict—Traders Expelled.

Special to THE TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—Advices from Kneghan, via Teheran, dated July 22nd, say it is rumored that a conflict has taken place between the Russians and Afghans, near Merv, Chaka. Whether true or false these rumors are believed on the frontier.

Numerous African traders have been expelled from Askabad, owing to political reasons.

A Monument to Sir Moses Montifiore in New York.

Special to THE TIMES.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Representatives of Various Jewish congregations met last night for the purpose of perpetuating the memory of the late Moses Montifiore. An organization was effected by the election of officers, and it was stated that $10,000 had already been subscribed towards the erection of a monument to the renowned philanthropist. It is intended to erect a monument in Central Park.

The Queen Misunderstands and Sends a Letter.

TORONTO IN FLAMES.

Terrific Fire in the Queen City this Morning—Half a Mile of Flames.

The Esplanade Completely Cleaned—Loss Already Estimated at over One Million.

Special to THE TIMES.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 3.—Fearfully destructive fires commenced about 12:30 this morning in the large brick building erected by the Toronto Sugar Refinery Co., on the Esplanade. A strong wind was blowing from the east, which carried chunks of burning timbers along the Esplanade, igniting wooden buildings as far west as five or six blocks. In a short time nothing was left of the sugar refinery but the walls and smoke stack. The buildings of Saulter, Evans, Pecks, Grinsells and Ebbetson's, all boat builders; Reid & Co. and Welch & Co., lumber merchants; Currie, Martin & Co., boiler makers, and other buildings are in flames, and unless the wind changes the whole south side of the Esplanade will have to succumb. Sparks are flying and lodging on the roofs of large warehouses on Front and Wellington streets, and fears are entertained that several of them may take fire. The fire brigade are, and have been, working manfully, but their efforts seem powerless. The streets are lined with thousands of people. The loss will be enormous. Schooners are burned to the water's edge. The fire is now half a mile in length.

THE WORK OF DESTRUCTION STILL GOING ON.

At 2:45 a. m. the work of destruction on the Esplanade still goes on, having now reached the foot of Zonga street, all intervening buildings and wharves having been burned to the ground. The Great Western freight sheds, formerly a passenger station, on the north side of the Esplanade, is in imminent danger, and is expected to be in flames every moment. The steamer Chicopee is getting up steam to go out into the lake. The steamer Ontario began to tow out but a schooner blocked the way. The Mazeppa has caught fire and all three will have to succumb to the flames. Unless the wind changes, the whole south side of the Esplanade, as far as the Union station, will undoubtedly perish. Showers of sparks are being carried to the opposite side of the street, and if buildings there catch fire there is no saying what immense damage will be done. The fire brigade is absolutely powerless. It is feared the watchman, Worth, of the sugar refinery factory has lost his life, as he has not been seen since the fire started. Wm. Buchanan, of the schooner Annie Mitloy, is dangerously burned about the head. Several elevators, coal yards, schooners, ferry boats, warehouses, and many boat houses are among the property destroyed. The loss so far is estimated at over a million dollars.

THE STEAMER MAZEPPA,

THE GAP BETWEEN SCOTT AND YOUNG ST.

At 3:30 a. m., the fire has been unable to cross the gap between Scott and Young streets, but is completing the destruction of the path it has traveled. A hurricane has just sprung up from the northeast which threatens to drive the fire across the street to the main part of the city; but the main buildings on the south side are so nearly burned to the ground that unless sparks ignite the buildings that part of the city is thought to be safe.

UNDER CONTROL.

At 4:30 a. m., fire is now under control impossible to obtain losses and insurance to-night.

The Grant Memorial Services in London.

Special to THE TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—The Duke of Cambridge, commander-in-Chief of the British army, the Marquis Lorne, General Lord Wolseley and Martinez, the Chilian Ambassador to England, have signified their intention of being present at the memorial services in honor of General Grant at Westminster Abbey to-morrow. Mr. Gladstone also says he will go if his health permits. The Prince of Wales and the Duke of Conaught will be represented by equerries. The Duke of Argyle, John Bright, and many other distinguished gentlemen have written letters expressing their regret at inability to attend.

A Duel—Mortally Wounded.

Special to THE TIMES.

TRIESTE, Aug. 3.—In consequence of a political quarrel an Austrian and Italian officer fought a duel in the suburbs of this city to-day. The Austrian was mortally wounded.

El Mahdi to Continue the War.

Special to THE TIMES.

SUAKIM, Aug. 3.—El Mahdi has selected Abdullah for the southern Soudan, Senussia for Egypt, and Inollah Abdullahman for Kardofan and Darfo. He has resolved to continue the war, and has appropriated 1,000,000 piastres therefor.

Twenty Thousand Dollars to the Ton.

A letter received in Calgary from a gentleman interested in the Big Bend claim says: "The richest and largest quartz vein perhaps ever discovered has been discovered within the past three weeks at McCulloch Creek. The vein is two feet wide, and the quartz has yielded, on assay, $20,000 to the ton. McCulloch Creek is a tributary of Gold Creek, which empties into the Columbia river about 50 miles above the second crossing of the Columbia. The mountain is the one which fed that creek on which such wonderful deposits of placer gold were taken out in 1862. The discovery promises to occasion extraordinary excitement."

An Actor Ducked.

Before the Geo. E. Starr left Port Townsend, on Friday, an inebriated member of the Madison Square Theater Company fell off the bow into the Sound. The fellow could not swim, but he was a terror to float. He keeled over on his back and lay on the water motionless until a sailor jumped overboard, and assisted in keeping him on the surface until parties on board could render him assistance. A subscription was raised for the sailor, among the passengers, and $15 realized.

TO BE HANGED.

Riel Found Guilty and Sentenced to be Hanged on the 18th Sept.

The Verdict Approved as a Most Righteous Judgment.

A Winnipeg dispatch of the 1st says the jury in the Riel case was absent about an hour when it returned and rendered a verdict of guilty.

An oath was administered to the guard to keep the jury without meat, drink, fire or lodging. At 3:15 there was a murmur in court, and it was whispered that the jury had agreed. All was bustle and excitement. Riel prayed fervently, kneeling in his box, and looked unmoved as the jury entered a verdict of guilty. Francis Cosgrove, the foreman, while crying like a child, announced that he was asked by his fellow jurors to recommend the prisoner to the mercy of the crown, and the judge said the recommendation would be considered. Riel was sentenced to be

HANGED ON THE 18TH OF SEPTEMBER AT REGINA.

Judge Richardson said he could hold out no prospect of reprieve or interference by Her Majesty. Riel took the result coolly, having spoken two hours reviewing the troubles of 1869, and the half-breed grievances not yet settled. The other half-breed prisoners will be charged probably with treason felony, in order to obviate the necessity for serving the indictment ten days before trial.

THE FEELING IN TORONTO.

TORONTO, Aug. 3.—The verdict of the jury in the Riel trial is looked upon here as a just one. The opinion is freely expressed that Riel should suffer the extreme penalty of the law. In all parts of Ontario heard from the approaching end of the doomed man, who has been the cause of so much loss of life, and the expenditure of millions of money, is looked upon as a just retribution, and satisfaction is expressed that he will be put beyond harm's reach. Political influence may be brought to bear to commute the sentence to imprisonment for life.

FRENCH CANADIANS INDIGNANT.

OTTAWA, Aug. 3.—The conviction and sentence of Louis Riel is the all-absorbing topic to-day. Orangemen and the English-speaking people generally consider it a righteous judgment; whilst among the French-Canadians considerable excitement and indignation is manifested.

Cricket.

A sitting of the County Court having prevented the Law from mustering a full eleven on Saturday last, sides were chosen by Messrs. Pooley and Bovill. Combe, Irving and Ward all batted well; but the bowling had, as usual, much the better of it, the record being: Bovill, 5 wickets for 12 runs; Martin, 4 for 27; Pooley, 6 for 16; Ward, 2 for 10. Pooley and Bovill both bowled particularly well. Following is the score:

The Gallick Case.

The recent transactions of the Gallick family seem to have been productive of an abundant crop of lawsuits. On Saturday afternoon another case arising out of their dealings was before the Court, with Mr. Justice Crease sitting. The difficulty arose in this way, a Mr. Redgrift about July 25th, bought the whole stock in trade of the Gallicks for $800, taking an absolute bill of sale and also possession of the stock immediately after the sale, and held it until a few days ago, when the sheriff, acting under an execution obtained by Messrs. Johnson and Magul, took charge. Redgrift claimed the stock under his bill of sale and delivery of possession, and the sheriff obtained an Interpleader order, directing the parties to try their rights to the goods. The case occupied nearly the whole afternoon of Saturday.

Mr. S. Perry Mills appeared for the sheriff and stated the proceedings were the first taken under the new County Court Act, and explained the nature of the matter.

Mr. T. Davie, on behalf of the execution creditors, contended that the bill of sale was void as against creditors, as Mr. and Mrs. Gallick were living together as man and wife and as Gallick was not a party to it, and received no consideration for his share, and also on the ground that Redgrift had constructive notice that Gallick was about to commit a fraud as the same agent was acting for both parties in negotiating the sale.

Mr. Taylor, for Redgrift, argued that the bill of sale was a conveyance of all the interest of Mrs. Gallick, who professed to be owner, and so far as Gallick was concerned, if he had any interest it was parted with by an actual delivery of the goods and payment of the price, as shown by his receipt, written on the bill of sale, and that nothing appeared to show that the same agent was acting for both parties, but only for Redgrift, and even, if the evidence did show it, that was not sufficient to affect Redgrift, who, if was admitted was innocent of any fraud, and that the authorities stated clearly that so long as the transaction actually passed, it would not avoid the sale to show that even actual notice of an intended fraud had been given by Gallick to Redgrift.

Base Ball.

The game of base ball at Beacon Hill on Saturday between two nines captained by Messrs. T. H. Baker and J. T. Fee was won by the latter, the score being 23 to 19. The silver cup presented by Mrs. Evans, of the Colonist hotel, was won by Mr. Thomas S. Burnes. His score was 5 runs and 1 out.

Address, THE TIMES P. & P. CO., Victoria, B. C.

J. C. McLAGAN, Manager.

A DINNER will be tendered the war correspondents on their return from Winnipeg from Regina, where they are reporting the trial of RIEL.

MR. W. MULOCH, M. P., has given his extra $500 indemnity for North York, Ont., to be divided among the volunteers from his constituency, who served in the Northwest campaign.

VICTOR HUGO always wrote in the morning, and made so many alterations in his manuscript that a page when completed is said to have looked like a sheet of music.

THE first large shipment from Eastern Canada since the completion of the North Shore line arrived at Minnesota transfer last Friday for Manitoba. It consisted of twenty car loads of agricultural implements.

IT is stated in Vienna that the Russian government meditates imposing a poll tax of from one hundred to two hundred roubles upon every foreigner residing longer than a fortnight in the country.

THE number of sunstrokes reported at New York on Monday last, were about thirty, of which ten were fatal. Eight deaths from sunstroke were reported at Philadelphia, and about thirty persons overcome by heat were taken to the different hospitals. Six fatal cases of sunstroke were reported at Louisville.

IT is somewhat to MRS. LILY LANGTRY's credit that she has been invisible in London since LORD LONSDALE and SIR GEORGE CHETWYND walloped each other in her behalf in Rotten Row. The domestic scene in CHETWYND's residence when his wife asked him what he meant by speaking of "My Lily" must be left to the imagination.

THERE was more firmness in the money market during last week. It is believed the decline in the value of money has reached the limits of its movements pending a certain increased demand for the accomodation of the Egyptian loan and several colonial loans. Harvest requirements will also contribute to a rise in rates. American railways are in better demand at higher quotations.

THE Irish party are furious over MR. BRIGHT's remarks at the SPENCER banquet, denouncing his language as a breach of privilege of the House. Several members of the party propose to demand the Speaker's attention to BRIGHT's speech as a breach of privilege. This feeling is taken as marking a still wider divergence, growing into actual enmity, between the Liberals and Nationalists.

THE Mayors of the United Kingdom recently held a conference on the subject of coast defence for the "tight little isle;" and, upon comparing notes, they arrived at the conclusion that the English sea coast, after all the millions spent upon it, is the most defenceless of any country in Europe. Doubts were freely expressed as to the ability of England's navy to furnish any protection, as half the ships are no better than old pottery. The Mayors have been a little too nervous, but discount their conclusions 50 per cent and Britain appears to be in very little better condition as to coast defence than the United States or Canada. She is more culpable because of the much more limited coast line to fortify.

AN article in the Moscow Gazette, reported to have been inspired by the Czar, declares that Russia has reached the furthest limits to which she desires to go, and that the government considers its ventures in Central Asia as at an end. Russia, the Gazette says, fears nothing so much as the continued growth of her territory. The Czar is anxious to secure a solid frontier within which progressive works of civilization may be carried on. A Russian commercial commission has been appointed, with Maj. Bajen, chief of the customs in command. The object of the commission is the study of trade movements and means of communication between trans-Caspian territory and Afghanistan and Persia.

BRITISH COLUMBIA DEFENCES.

The Nanaimo Free Press has taken up the defence question and says "The news from Afghanistan, being again of a warlike character, has brought prominently into notice the comparative defenceless ness of British Columbia. * * * The Colonist takes the extremely selfish ground that both torpedo boats as well as the men of war should be stationed at Victoria, and in support of that essence of selfishness or centralization, advances the argument (sic) that when Victoria is protected the entire province is protected. * * * There is no doubt a good deal of truth in the expression that military matters should be left to military men, and that journalists cannot be expected to be versed in military ethics. That part is true as far as the details are concerned, and we have not the slightest wish to interfere with prerogatives of the military when there is any of that to do. But when it comes to a matter of general defence, common sense is the standard by which it should be advocated. To any one acquainted with the relative positions of Victoria, Nanaimo, New Westminster and Burrard Inlet, the argument of the Colonist must appear puerile in the extreme. The idea that the protection of Victoria is the protection of the other business centres of the province is so ridiculously absurd that it must bring a smile to the lips of even an average Victorian. Victoria is situated at the southern end of Vancouver Island, with an open water way in front of it at least 30 miles in width. And yet the protection of Victoria would not prevent a hostile man-of-war winding its way through that magnificent water stretch to Nanaimo, New Westminster or Burrard Inlet. Victoria protected would not be much of a consolation to the people of those "unprotected" places when hostile shot and shell was killing the residents and destroying their property. If Victoria was made a second Gibraltar, even an American man-of-war could pass by it with impunity, proceed unmolested to the Gulf of Georgia and bombard the cities on its borders. But that would not matter if "Victoria was protected." Our esteemed contemporary must have forgot for the moment that Vancouver Isle is an island entirely surrounded by water, and that there is as good an entrance around the northern end as the one at the southern or Victoria end. If by the Colonist argument the protection of Victoria, is sufficient protection to the ports of the north, then by a parity of argument the protection of Nanaimo ought to be sufficient protection to the city of Victoria on the south. The concentration of the men of war, torpedo boats and military men at one of the places named, cannot possibly be a protection to the other. What is required is that each objective place, i. e., Victoria, Nanaimo, Burrard Inlet and New Westminster, should be suitably protected by the erection and equipment of batteries, and a torpedo service at each station. It has been officially stated that the Dominion Government intend to place British Columbia in a proper state of defence, and from private sources we learn, that GENERAL MIDDLETON will be detailed to visit British Columbia within a few months and arrange for an adequate system of defence. We venture to predict that that eminent soldier will not endorse the Colonist argument that the protection of Victoria is a synodym for the protection of the entire province.

A PRIMROSE WEDDING.

The marriage of COL. HOWARD KINGSCOTTE with MISS DRUMMOND WOLFF took place last week, by special license, at St. Paul's, Knightsbridge. The wedding was known as a "Primrose wedding," the bride's father being one of the founders of Primrose league. The bridesmaids, nine in number, were dames of the league. They wore dresses of deep primrose satin, draped with the same shade of crepe, and caught up with small bunches of primroses. Each wore the badge of the league and a tulle veil surmounted by a wreath of primroses. They also wore gold brooches set with diamonds, the gift of the bridgroom. The bride, who was given away by her father, was attired in a costume of velours broche frise and satin ivorie, the front of the skirt being covered with antique Brussels lace, which was tastefully caught up with sprays of real orange blossoms, sent specially from Nice for the occasion. Her train was borne by two little pages. The veil was fastened to the hair of three large diamond stars, surmounted by a wreath of orange blossoms.

It is very properly complained in New Brunswick that although Lieut-Governor WILMOT's term of office expired in February last, no decision has been arrived at, either to continue him for another term or appoint a successor. We all know, however, that had "political exigencies" warranted it, that matter would long ago have been settled; but it remains in the same condition of abeyance as the appointments to several Cabinet positions. It is claimed, and very properly, that there are men enough to creditably fill all our public offices and they should be regularly appointed. GOVERNOR WILMOT should, therefore, insist upon reappointment for a full term, or the appointment of a successor. If leading positions can be dealt with in this way does not the idea suggest itself that they are in reality of very little importance and might as well be dispensed with?

IF the House of Lords refuses to adopt the Liberal amendment to the Medical relief bill, the majority of the House of Commons will not allow the bill to drop, but will insist upon the necessity of Parliament dealing with the measure as an integral part of the electoral reform.

KING'S EVIL

Was the name formerly given to Scrofula because of a superstition that it could be cured by a king's touch. The world is wiser now, and knows that can only be cured by a thorough purification of the blood. If this is neglected, the disease perpetuates its taint through generation after generation. Among its earlier symptomatic developments are Eczema, Cutaneous Eruptions, Tumors, Boils, Carbuncles, Erysipelas, Purulent Ulcers, Nervous and Physical Collapse, etc. If allowed to continue, Rheumatism, Scrofulous Catarrh, Kidney and Liver Diseases, Tubercular Consumption, and various other dangerous or fatal maladies, are produced by it.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Is the only powerful and always reliable blood-purifying medicine. It is so effectual an alterative that it eradicates from the system Hereditary Scrofula, and the kindred poisons of contagious diseases and mercury. At the same time it enriches and vitalizes the blood, restoring healthful action to the vital organs and rejuvenating the entire system. This great

Regenerative Medicine

Is composed of the genuine Honduras Sarsaparilla, with Yellow Dock, Stillingia; the Iodides of Potassium and Iron; and other ingredients of great potency, carefully and scientifically compounded. Its formula is generally known to the medical profession, and the best physicians constantly prescribe AYER's SARSAPARILLA as an Absolute Cure

For all diseases caused by the vitiation of the blood. It is concentrated to the highest practicable degree, far beyond any other preparation for which like effects are claimed, and is therefore the cheapest, as well as the best blood purifying medicine, in the world.

A GENIUS FOR ART.

NOT ONE CHILD IN TEN THOUSAND POSSESSES IT,

But Nearly Every Boy and Girl Has an Instinct for Artistic Employment—What Young Children May Easily Be Taught.

[London Art Journal.]

There is no branch of human knowledge in which so much old fashioned sham survives as in writing or talking about art. There are few men who can discuss it without going into ineffable spasms and æsthetic raptures. The cure for this is to be found in a varied knowledge of arts, and in practical education. Raphael, Albert Durer, Cellini, Michael Angelo, were the results (not the causes) of a state of society in which every workman was capable of executing decorative designs, and even of making them. Now the world has taken from the ineffable æsthetic transcendentalists, firstly, the idea that art in the main means only the making of pictures and statues; and, secondly, that unless a child manifests an innate talent or born gift for art, it should not be expected to study it. There are children who have a genius for art, but of these there are not more than one in 10,000 or 15,000.

Among more than 1,000 pupils who were under my teaching in the public art school in Philadelphia, there was only one who had any genius for art; but, on the other hand, there was not a single girl or boy who passed into the second year of instruction who could not design a pattern and then execute it in embroidery, or wood, clay, sheet metal, leather, mosaic, or other material. I have found, by full experience and hard work, that every child in every school may, by a certain and very simple method of training, be made into an artisan, and from this point become either a practical mechanic or an artist. It is the proper preparation for either. As easy embroidery is the best beginning to lead little girls up to prosaic plain sewing, so the boy who begins with design and modeling and carving, makes not only the best shoemaker, or smith, or carpenter, in less than the usual time, but also a better sailor, or farmer, or miner, or collier. For there is no calling in life in which developed quickness of perception and constructiveness is not a great power. Thus I found—and herein high authorities in education agree with me—that decorative art was the best step toward more practical work.

It was many years ago, during my former residence in England, that I began to seriously study the problem of manual industry as a branch of all education. In the very beginning of my reflection on this subject, I was much struck by the the fact that no hard or prosaic employment, no trades, in fact, could with success be taught to young children of both sexes. All over the world, efforts to teach boys under 14 years of age a trade have not succeeded, because neither muscles nor brains are sufficiently developed at that age for a child to do a man's task. The principle on which I would base instruction is, that a child not as yet capable of learning a trade or a serious or severe branch of industry can, however, easily master all branches of decorative art, and that these form a fit introduction to more practical work.

We all know that to mere infants, a box of paints, a transparent glass slate for drawing, and to boys boxes of tools are most acceptable gifts. The basis for this faculty is the instinct for constructiveness. And as it seeks for artistic employment in its early stage, I firmly believe that those who begin in childhood with art, will, in the end, prove to be the most intelligent practical mechanics. Egypt, which was in ancient days the mother of learning, proved to be strangely enough in this case also my instructor, for it was in Miss Whately's school in Cairo that, on seeing two very little girls executing each one side of the same piece of elegant embroidery, it flashed upon me that if mere babes could execute such art work, this must be the kind of hand labor with which to begin in schools.

The next day I found in the bazars numbers of young of both sexes executing embroidery from memory, inlaying, repousse, and even jewelry, with a degree of skill which in Europe no one expects save from grown up and highly trained artists. I reflected, or observed, that all over the east, and in southern Europe, south Germany, and Tyrol, mere children executed art work of many kinds, especially wood carving, with so much skill that it has a market value, without its preventing them from attending school.

The Tissue Paper Craze.

[Jewelers' Circular.]

Eastern stationers are reporting large sales of imported tissue papers since the craze for making decorative articles of this inexpensive material began. This paper is produced in every conceivable shade and in gradation tints, and in the hands of ingenious persons of artistic tastes, undergoes wonderful transformations in plaques, flowers, fans, screens, dolls, bonbonieres, mats, picture frames, grates and hangings. Another demand on the tissue paper trade are the paper balls and parties where guests appear attired in picturesque costumes composed of tissue paper.

The Meanest Man Yet.

[Boston Commercial Bulletin.]

A Commercial street man wears the champion belt for meanness just now. His clerk is an expert penman, and was practicing his art in shading the letters on the addresses of some envelopes when the employer, happening to overlook him, said: "Mr. Daybook, I would not shade those letters; it wastes the ink awfully."

A Curious Specimen.

The Jewish Messenger says that to the curious specimen of prayer lately published may be added the of a modern rabbi: "O, Lord, thou remembereat we said last week," etc.

WOMAN AND HOME.

SHOP GIRLS, SALESWOMEN, KITCHEN MAIDS, SOCIETY LADIES.

The Landlady's Daughters—A Saleswomen's Fair—Man's Cruelty to Working Girls—Queen Victoria—London Barmaids.

[London Cor. Troy Times.]

The one redeeming point about the London tavern is the barmaid. I am told on good authority that in metropolitan London alone, with its population of about 5,000,000 souls of one kind and another, there are 12,000 barmaids, exactly double the number of girls employed in one capacity or another about the theatres. A barmaid must be young and attractive. She is required to dress in a black cashmere or French merino princess robe, so as to be distinguished from the mistress—a London tavern, like an American farm, must have a mistress—who generally appears behind the bar in the gaudiest colors, and above all to prevent rivalry in dress between the barmaids themselves, and therefore to lessen the temptation of dipping their hands in the till. The dress, too, it may be mentioned, must be made without pockets, which I should think must prove a great hardship, especially in this climate, where one is subject to colds in the head.

They must, moreover, be intelligent to the extent of at least engaging the customers of the "masher" type in conversation, and of leading them on to spend a great deal of their time and money at the bars. It is, however, a mark against a barmaid if she devotes herself too exclusively to one or two persons. This is not conducive to trade. Her policy is, therefore, to talk a little to every one, and, having to serve all and sundry as they come up to the bar, she is able to pass from one to another without giving apparent offense. In this way a barmaid picks up a great deal of surface knowledge, and, in many instances, becomes really smart and accomplished far beyond her station in life.

But she is by no means the slave of her customers. Let anyone, especially a stranger, attempt familiarities with her, or address language to her which, according to her lights, she considers as unbecoming a gentleman, she will have that person up before the master or mistress at once, or call into instant requisition the services of the "chucker-out." Of course she must necessarily overhear a great deal that is not fit for ears polite, but so long as it is not addressed to her and the person using it does not make a disturbance, that is none of her business, and though obliged to serve the low types of character above described, it is not expected of her, however, that she shall hold any conversation with them further than the transaction she has with any of their demands.

It is a barmaid's ambition to be promoted from the Bill Sykes side of the bar to that of the masher. Here she is in her element. She can listen to silly nothings by the hour from a dozen of nonentities, her object evidently being to keep as many as possible of what she calls her customers on the tenter-hooks. See her in the evening, if she is at all attractive; she is a perfect flower-pot, because of the number of buttonholes and bouquets that have been presented her during the day by her numerous admirers. Yet her life cannot be all a bed of roses. She is required to be on her feet fifteen hours a day every day of the week; she must live on the premises, and she is only allowed to go out one day in every four or five weeks; she is boarded by her employer, and receives for wages, with which she must clothe herself and always appear respectable, on an average about 2 pounds sterling a week.

The Landlady's Daughters.

[Prentice Mulford in San Francisco Chronicle.]

There are three young women, daughters and other kin to the landlady, who assist in running the house. At meal times the majority of this force is congregated in the kitchen, where they run against each other and render the serving of the viands even more laborious. Between the dining-room and kitchen is a port-hole, through which the dishes are passed en route to the table. In addition to these dishes, the chronic row which prevails in the culinary department during the preparation of a meal is also passed through the aperture and meets our ears in various stages of violence. The row begins in the morning and always from the same cause—the indisposition of the young ladies to arise at an hour befitting the requirements of the situation and the demands of the landlady.

A residence here of several months and my contiguity to the sleeping-rooms of the family has rendered me quite familiar with the more prominent phases of this matutinal storm. At an early hour I hear the mistress thumping at the door of the young ladies' room, saying: "Now, girls get up! Don't you lay abed another minute." Morning after morning and month after month is this matutinal call repeated. Month in and month out the girls do lie abed until the last moment, and when they reach the kitchen, half an hour behind time, the rumpus commences exactly where it left off the preceding day. The kitchen password is, "Shut up!"

These young ladies have given me, one and all, their ideas as to their respective "futures." They say openly they want to get married. They say they would marry anybody for a home and spending money. "An old man on such terms?" I queried. "Yes; anybody or anything for a change and to get out of this kitchen—so that he had money and would let me have of it as much as I wanted." Poor children. They are at all events honest in their expression. They think they mean it. Perhaps they do.

I don't wonder, at the glimpse I have of their lives and what their lives have probably been from the cradle up, that they cry "Anything for a change." A new dress is a rare thing with them. No one takes them to the theater. Their life has little more of "color" than the pots in the kitchen and is very much the same hue. It's a life robbed of so much that makes life attractive to the young. Sleeping in the attic at night, grubbing in the basement, sweeping halls and stairways, running to the grocery for provisions, the recipients of the boarders' growls and complaints, but lookers-on at comforts and luxuries enjoyed by others, is it strange that their sentiment should be "anything for a change!"

The Peasant Who Was Short on Wheat.

[Detroit Free Press.]

A Peasant who was Short on Wheat for May Delivery, and found Ruin Staring him in the Face, hatchd himself to the Cave of a Philosopher and said:

"Oh, Wise Man, I am half a million Bushels of Wheat short on May Delivery. I came to ask help of the gods through you."

"Know ye, my Friend," replied the old man as he Scratched his Chilblains in the polite manner, "that the gods Render Aid only when the Lawyers have given up the Case."

The next morning the Peasant was in Canada.

Hardened Liver.

Five years ago I broke down with kidney and liver complaint and rheumatism. Since then I have been unable to be about at all. My liver became hard like wood; my limbs were puffed up and filled with water.

All the best physicians agreed that nothing could cure me. I resolved to try Hop Bitters: I have used seven bottles; the hardness has all gone from my liver, the swelling from my limbs, and it has worked a miracle in my case; otherwise I would have been now in my grave.

Poverty and Suffering.

I was dragged down with debt, poverty and suffering for years, caused by a sick family and large bills for doctoring.

I was completely discouraged, until one year ago, by the advice of my pastor, I commenced using Hop Bitters, and in one month we were all well, and none of us have seen a sick day since, and I want to say to all poor men, you can keep your families well a year with Hop bitters for less than one doctor's visit will cost. I know it.

CITY AND PROVINCE.

—"The greatest show on earth" will be in Victoria on the 26th and 27th inst.

—Mr. Wm. A. Baird, clerk at the Occidental, is suffering from paralysis of the tongue, and is at the French Hospital.

—The Theater Comique troupe went to New Westminster this morning. They play there two nights.

—The Barbara Boscowitz will leave for Fort Simpson and Queen Charlotte Islands on Tuesday, 11th August.

—Messrs. Baker and Shakespeare, M. P.'s, will address their constituents at the City Hall to-night, at 8 o'clock.

—There are quite a number of applications for the vacant position on the police force.

—The roads in the neighborhood of Oyster Harbor are blocked by fallen trees, the result of the recent bush fires.

—The Howe truss bridges for the Nanaimo and Chemainus rivers are being framed at Chemainus.

—Miss E. Bell has been appointed Principal of the girls' department Nanaimo schools.

—Mr. W. M. Wood has been appointed teacher of the Lake District school, and A. M. Bannerman of the Colwood school.

—Capt. Harmon is nursing one of his hands, which received several severe cuts from broken glass, when he was working on the Enterprise.

—It is expected that within two weeks the rails will be laid from Oyster Harbor to Chemainus river, and in about six weeks time to the Nanaimo river.

—A man named Thomas Lorne, at camp two, Nanaimo section E. & N. R., had his arm shattered by a blast on Friday.

—C. D. Rand has resumed business and has taken an office on Bastion street over Dr. Chipp's where he will carry on business as a real estate broker and insurance agent.

—During his absence in Ottawa the residence of Mr. E. Crowe Baker was broken into on more than one occasion and valuable articles and relics that cannot be replaced stolen.

—The Geo. E. Starr brought a consignment of general merchandise for our business houses. Sixty-one hogs and twenty-five calves formed a part of the cargo.

—At South Wellington a bush fire came within an ace of burning all the buildings in that coal mining center, while at Departure Bay the residence of Mr. Jas. Dunsmuir had a narrow escape from destruction.

—Real estate transactions in the city during the past week were brisk. Several took place ranging in the neighborhood of $10,000 each. Dealers report a firm market, with a fair demand for choice locations for building purposes.

—Mr. James Prestige, Comox, on returning to his farm a few days ago found his house in ashes. All the contents, including a new library, were lost. The fire was communicated from a burning bush.

—Mr. E. Crowe Baker is meeting many of his friends to-day, who are warmly congratulating himself and Mrs. Baker on their home coming after an absence of six months from the city. Both are in excellent health and spirits.

—The telegraph wires worked so satisfactorily to-day that in order to give place to news received through that channel, a number of articles on the disgraceful political partizanship of the school board, and other subjects, have been unavoidably held over.

—Several members of the Amity B. B. Club express themselves in strong language against the Colonist, for refusing to specify Mrs. Evans of the Colonist hotel as the donator of the silver cup won by Mr. T. Burnes on Saturday last.

—The Geo. E. Starr brought freight for: Langley & Co, S J Pitts, D S Curtis & Co, Jas Salmond, W D McIntyre, P McQuade & Son, Victor Gill, Coulter & Son, Marvin & Tilton, Conley & Co, J Parker, J Cunningham, J W Lovell, T Chapperon.

—The injury received by Capt. Ainsworth during the runaway accident some months ago in the interior, has become quite serious, causing a great deal of pain and annoyance, especially the wound in the foot. A fracture of the bone of the leg would have given less trouble and would have mended more rapidly.

—The torpedo boats Swift and Sure will be hauled up on ways at the naval dockyard and refitted. The Chilians put them together hurriedly and imperfectly, and they require a complete overhauling to stop leaks and get the machinery into perfect working order. Sheds will be erected over them and about once a quarter they will be run in the water and go through the regulation practice.

—Coal Harbor and English Bay properties are in considerable demand. A feeling of security has now taken possession of investors, that at last the vexed terminus question has been settled. Clearing and burning is being pushed forward rapidly. Several buildings are now in process of erection. During last week a considerable business was transacted by our local dealers, sales varying from $500 to $4000.

Alberni's Wrongs.

A correspondent of the Nanaimo Free Press complains of the condition of the roads in that district and the do-nothing policy of the government in respect thereto. The work done on the Mollett contract is scarcely perceptible. Unless some public work is carried on settlers will have to leave. The colonization policy now being pursued is a matter for grave consideration, as it is unquestionably an injury rather than a benefit to the province.

The Schools.

The public schools reopened to-day with a large attendance of pupils. Both teachers and scholars return to school with renewed health and energies after the welcome respite of the holidays. The new Principal of the girls' department assumed the responsible duties of her position, and after roll call in the several departments, and arrangement of studies, the scholars were dismissed. A vacancy in the staff of teachers, caused by the resignation of Miss Williams, one of the assistants, will be filled at the next meeting of the board. The resignation was made in consequence of ill-health.

Revival Meetings.

The special Y. M. C. A. services held yesterday were a success. In the afternoon the Methodist Church was well filled. In the evening the Temperance hall was packed. The meetings will be continued this week in the Pandora street Presbyterian Church at 3 p. m., and 7:30 in the evening.

FROM THE NORTH.

Arrival of the Boscowitz—News from the Skeena.

The steamer Barbara Boscowitz, Capt. S. Williams, arrived this morning at 7 o'clock from Fort Simpson and way ports, bringing the following passengers: Rev. C. Harrison and Mrs. Harrison and child, from Massett, P. Brentzen, Fort Simpson; C. Morrison, R. Cunningham, Miss Blenkinsop, Mrs. Jessie and child, J. Homans, D. McWilliams, Mr. Stephens, surveyor, sixteen miners from Lorne creek, ten Indians and two Chinamen, also returned by the steamer. The freight consisted of 750 cases of salmon from Inverness, 1300 cases from Port Essington, a quantity of yellow cedar and other lumber, and furs for the Hudson Bay Co. and Turner, Beeton & Co.

THE FISHERIES.

Mr. R. Cunningham, of Port Essington, reports the fishing industry as having had a prosperous season. The salmon run on the Skeena was a large one, and the canneries at Inverness and Port Essington had put up about six thousand cases each, besides about four hundred barrels salted down by the latter. The work of canning was completed two weeks ago, and operations at both establishments have come to an end for the season.

THE BODY FOUND.

The body of the miner, John McMaster, was found floating in the river, seven miles below Aberdeen, nine days after the unfortunate man was missing. He came down from Lorne creek about three weeks ago showing such strong symptoms of mental derangements that a watch was kept on him awaiting the arrival of the steamer. While wandering about the wharf in the dark, it is believed that he accidentally fell in, as there was no reason for believing that he committed suicide, his temporary aberration being the very opposite of a melancholy character. The body was interred at Aberdeen by Rev. Mr. Jennings and Messrs. Dempster and Cunningham. His home was on the Nass river, where he leaves a wife and several children.

THE INDIANS

are peaceable and well disposed. The return of Mr. Duncan and his proteges from the east is anxiously expected at Metlakatlah, and according to the last letter received from him it was thought he would arrive on the next steamer. The Indians say that upon his return the rights for which they have been contending—the ownership of the country—will be accorded to them, and if not hostilities may be resumed.

has been delightfully dry and pleasant, little rain having fallen for a number of weeks. The health of the community generally is good, and there is little or no news of an unusual character to report.

THE MINES.

The news from the Lorne Creek mines is not as encouraging as could be wished. But little gold has been taken out so far, the bed-rock in many places being found to be hard and smooth. Wherever crevices were laid bare, pay was found; but in the gravel there is but little. No doubt, between now and the end of the season, good spots will be discovered. Seeing that many of the miners went there with but little means, they are not generally in a position to take a season's chances. We are informed by a gentleman who left the mines a week ago, that provisions are being sold at reasonable prices: Flour $6.50 per 100 lbs., sugar 6 lbs. for $1, tea 75c. to $1, bacon 25c., and beef 18c. to 25 c. per lb., and other things in proportion. The Hudson Bay Co. have established a store on the creek, and there is also one kept by Mrs. Yeomans.

Tom, a Cowichan Indian, in possession of an intoxicant; fined $25 or one month.

Patrick Lawlor, supplying an Indian woman with liquor. Officer Walker deposed to having arrested Lawlor yesterday afternoon in an Indian tent, off Wharf street. The woman proved that prisoner had bought the whiskey for four bits, which she supplied for that purpose. Fined $50 and $1 cost, or three months.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

Chinese Interpreter.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—The appointment of a Chinese interpreter does not appear as if the Dominion government expected the province to be relieved of the presence of Chinese; but on the contrary, regard them as either future citizens or permanent residents of the country. If a special interpreter is necessary why not appoint a white man, whose instincts will lead him to the performance of his duties regardless of fear or prejudice. Experience has proven that a converted Chinaman, is still a Chinaman, and to place the responsibility of obtaining correct evidence, in the hands of one of their own number would be a crime only worthy of its promoters. Failing to obtain the services of a white man, two Chinese interpreters should be appointed, the statements of each to be made separately in the absence of the other. The court would then have the opportunity of judging from the lucidity of each as to which was the most entitled to credence. If two are not appointed by all means let a white man hold the office. Our so-called leading citizens are nearly always in a hurry to do things; why don't they think more before they act, so as to earn and deserve the appellation of leaders—

Squirming they came into the world
And wriggling they go through it.
By bangling they commit a fault
And say that others do it.

The Trustees Asked to Rise and Explain.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR:—The trustees of our public school have succeeded in securing a Principal for the girls' department. Can you inform the public why it is that a perfect stranger, with a second class certificate, was chosen? Surely there are some worthy teachers upon the old staff who should have been appointed! It is hinted that the new appointment is a stroke in the political line, but how can that be? Will some of your readers rise and explain? It might be gall and wormwood to the old teachers to be compelled to be governed by a graduate of Port Hope College that could not take a higher grade certificate than second A.

OBSERVER.

Victoria, Aug. 3, 1885.

Fiat Justitia Ruat Coelum.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES.

SIR:—Will the Victoria Board of School Trustees kindly inform many an anxious citizen why, when they have any business of importance to transact, they resolve into committee and exclude the representatives of the press? Is it a case of "they love darkness rather than the light, because their deeds are evil?" Emerging from their seclusion after last meeting they declare the appointment of Miss Armstrong, as Principal of the girls' department of the Central school. The public demands a reason for this unprecedented, unwarranted act! The public has also a right to know, for future guidance at election times, who voted for this appointment. I would be glad to know that we have at least one honest man on the board. Who is this Miss Armstrong who so suddenly is introduced to the people of Victoria by their representatives, the school trustees, as a fitting person to conduct our Central school, and to superintend the education of five hundred of our children? Is she any relation to the ex-M. P. P. of New Westminster? If so is that to be considered a fitting qualification to enable her to direct the work and assign the duties of five tried teachers, all as well qualified—and some much better—than herself? Teachers who, holding first-class certificates, have proved themselves able to conduct schools, and have shown themselves worthy of public confidence? The result of the recent examination of teachers shows this clever Miss Armstrong to be the proud holder of a second class certificate! Well, such qualification might enable her to direct the studies in some small village school, or some place of less importance than the city of Victoria. Our trustees should be required to advance some cause for their strange action. The position is a responsible and important one for which there was more than one applicant, holding a first class certificate and recommended by years of faithful service in this same school. Why are they set aside to make room for this high-school girl from a distance, whose ignorance of the manner of conducting an ordinary examination is charmingly refreshing? How can we expect our children—who themselves know better than to ask leading questions upon the papers set them—to look up with becoming respect to a teacher ignorant of such every-day school matters? And what about the teachers, faithful, tried workers who are elected to act as assistants to this new fledgling? Are they to be instructed in their duties by one scarcely qualified to teach a primary class, one whose sole recommendation seems to be that she is a graduate of the Port Hope High School? I was proud to notice that a graduate of the Victoria High School at the last examination of teachers, in competition with this Miss Armstrong, received a "First Class Grade B. Certificate." We must infer that our graduates to receive favorable notice from a Victoria school board, must go east to Port Hope and qualify in that now noted educational town. But a rule, if a good one, should be carried out in every respect. Let us not stop at importing from Port Hope second-class teachers to act as the heads of our school; but let us also send there for our coffins, telephones newspapers, life insurance and architect's plans. We are taught by these self same trustees, when making grandiloquent speeches to the rising generation on examination days, that, in a few years' time, when the boys and girls of to-day become the men and women of the future, if they prove themselves worthy citizens, every honorable position in the country shall be opened to them. Actions speak louder than words. The Victoria school teachers who have been born, brought up and educated in the province, demand, as their birth right, the privilege, at least, when an opening presents itself, to be permitted to stand on the same level with competitors from the outside. This is denied them, and the time will come, when it touches home on your own children, that you may take a just view of this matter, which is not, alas, confined to school appointments, but has spread its evil roots far and wide in our midst—where it is too often seen political influence is enough to gain any advancement, and honest merit is set aside. Our trustees all have boys and girls of their own, natives of British Columbia, growing up to take their places in the social, business and professional world. What an outcry will be made if these young British Columbians are forced to leave the land of their birth to make their way in the outside world, while those positions, which rightly belong to them, are filled by outsiders of inferior ability. Before it is too late let the trustees make the changes required, and regain the public confidence which they have so basely abused.
